Highlights of Organization/background information:

Founded in 1962, La Salle University is among Mexico's most innovative private universities, noted for the facilities offered on campus, the personal attention given to the student and its traditional values and community spirit. It is centrally located within the heart of the trendy Colonia Condesa, which can be easily reached by subway, bus or taxi. It is also within walking distance of many museums, bookstores, restaurants, cafés and movie theatres and only a 20-minute cab ride from the historic downtown center of Mexico City.

At the Center for International Education (CIEL), we take pride in promoting intercultural programs designed to build bridges between Mexico and other nations. Through intellectually challenging and emotionally stimulating learning experiences, we bring participants face to face with Mexican culture and reality.

The Special Programs Office is the contact at CIEL, La Salle. The office provides information on La Salle homestays prior to arrival, initial orientation upon arrival, sets up and accompanies intern to interview and offers guidance and assistance throughout the internship period. Students receive a La Salle student ID, which permits the access to University facilities such as the gym, library and cultural events. Interns are also invited to participate in cultural excursions that are organized by CIEL.

Accommodation:

Interns are able to participate in the Homestay Program for international students. Families that live near the university offer their services to La Salle university students. They all offer flexible meal plans (no meals, 1, 2 or 3 meals). Homestay placement fee is of 60.00 USD and daily homestay fee is 18.00 US (2 meals). Fees may change at any moment.
