

UNSW Sydney

Introduction

UNSW Sydney is one of Australia's leading research and teaching universities and one of the top 50 universities in the world. We take pride in the broad range and high quality of our teaching programs. Our teaching gains strength and currency from our research activities, strong industry links and our international nature; UNSW has strong regional and global engagement. We have over 59,000 students and offer an extensive range of undergraduate, postgraduate and research programs.

Located in Sydney, Australia's business and technology capital, the University was established in 1949 and is committed to shaping forward thinking, environmentally conscious and socially engaged students who will make a positive impact in the world.

UNSW's campuses are located between Sydney's coastal eastern suburbs and bustling city centre - surrounded by public transport options. There are trains, buses, ferries and light rail options that run from UNSW campuses throughout Sydney. A short bus trip will take you to explore the famous beaches of Coogee or Bondi, while the new Light Rail network takes you from UNSW's Kensington campus to the central business district and inner city.
